

2 Star

Throughout the season F1 drivers travel a lot, covering massive distances to get from one race to another. Lewis Hamilton lives in London. After each race, the F1 drivers travel to the next race location. The first race of the season is in Australia (Melbourne). The distance from London to Melbourne is 16,893km. Lewis then travels from Melbourne to Bahrain to race at Sakhir.

Can you calculate the total distance (km) Lewis will travel around the globe during the F1 season?

Here's the full list of 2019 races. In brackets is the city / track where the race takes place.

1. Australian Grand Prix (Melbourne)
2. Bahrain Grand Prix (Sakhir)
3. Chinese Grand Prix (Shanghai)
4. Azerbaijan Grand Prix (Baku)
5. Spanish Grand Prix (Barcelona)
6. Monaco Grand Prix (Monte Carlo)
7. Canadian Grand Prix (Montreal)
8. French Grand Prix (Le Castellet)
9. Austrian Grand Prix (Spielberg)
10. British Grand Prix (Silverstone)
11. German Grand Prix (Hockenheim)
12. Hungarian Grand Prix (Budapest)
13. Belgian Grand Prix (Spa-Francorchamps)
14. Italian Grand Prix (Monza)
15. Singapore Grand Prix (Marina Bay)
16. Russian Grand Prix (Sochi)
17. Japanese Grand Prix (Suzuka)
18. Mexican Grand Prix (Mexico City)
19. United States Grand Prix (Austin)
20. Brazilian Grand Prix (Sao Paulo)
21. Abu Dhabi Grand Prix (Yas Marina)